

DePaul University / Jeff Carrion

The Rev. Dennis H. Holtschneider, C.M., is the 11th president of DePaul University, the nation's largest Catholic university and the largest private university in the Midwest, and chairman of Ascension, the nation's largest Catholic and non-profit health system.

He also serves on the boards of the American Council on Education (ACE), the Chicago History Museum and the steering committee of the Illinois Business Immigration Coalition.

A Detroit native, he studied at Harvard University and received his doctorate in administration, planning and social policy in 1997 after writing a dissertation on the early history of financial aid in the United States. He earned a bachelor's degree in mathematics from Niagara University in 1985, studied for the priesthood at Mary Immaculate Seminary in Northampton, Pa., and was ordained in 1989.

Father Holtschneider led two national studies examining trends in governance and leadership in American Catholic colleges and universities. He is the author of one book and numerous articles on U.S. higher education and Catholic higher education, as well as a frequent consultant and speaker on these topics.

He is a professor of education at DePaul and a faculty member in the Harvard Graduate School of Education's Management Development Program where, during the fall 2014 semester, he served as Visiting Scholar and President-in-Residence. He also is a faculty member at Boston College's Institute for Administrators in Catholic Higher Education.
